Educationally, my code earned a merit award while my music earned a scholarship. Avocationally, music supported me despite dropping out of music school to fulfill the vocational BS. Professionally, wrote software for decades: minimizing data center automation into cloud native infrastructure, programming telerobotics user interfaces, remodeling telehealth systems from MVP to SaaS, and more. A fellowship enabled funding and founding my startup which led to roles ranging from rapid prototyping to automated deployment to subtractive design: sensemaking potential pivots of people, product, and process.
